

It will help to supply the signal to the boards, and control system